UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS LIBRARY

DOMESTIC SCIENCE ROOM.

SPECIAL FEATURES OF THE INSTITUTE

*HISTORY.

Mary Institute was founded under the Charter of Washington University in 1859. A building suitable for its earlier needs was erected for it on Lucas Place and Fourteenth Street, and here it remained for twenty years. In 1879 it moved into a more commodious structure on the corner of Locust and Beaumont Streets. This new building was planned and equipped for four hundred pupils, but before two decades had passed another change of location had been made necessary by the rapid westward growth of the city. Through the generosity of Mr. William McMillan, who contributed $100,000, and the loyalty of the Alumnæ, who raised nearly $100,000 more, a third home was provided on Lake Avenue, or Fifty-second Street, and was opened in the autumn of 1902. Modern, thoroughly equipped and conveniently situated, this building may fairly be expected to serve the needs of the school for a number of decades.

CHARACTER AND AIMS.

Mary Institute has three departments, the Primary, the Preparatory, and the Academic. Each is under its own head, has its own study and recitation rooms, and its own special teachers. The Primary course covers two years, the Preparatory five, and the Academic five. The normal age for entering the Primary Department is six.

*A history of the Institute, which gives in detail the story of its foundation and growth, was published upon the completion of its fiftieth year and may be had upon application.

With this completeness of organization the Institute has always been able to maintain the highest standards of thoroughness and efficiency in all its grades. It sends its graduates to the universities and colleges so well prepared that they have no difficulty in meeting the exacting requirements of these higher institutions. To those not wishing to enter college it gives a searching training in English, History, the Foreign Languages, Mathematics, Physiology and Hygiene, Civics, and Social Problems; and offers elective courses in Art, Domestic Science, Natural Science, and Manual Arts.

The Institute employs one teacher for every fifteen pupils, and is therefore able to keep its class sections small. Pupils not only receive individual attention in the daily recitations, but are privileged to go to the teachers during their study periods for additional help and explanations. If by reason of illness they are absent for not more than one week, they are allowed to make up their work in school with the assistance of the teachers. But lessons missed for any other reason than sickness cannot be made up in this way without special permission.

The daily session lasts from eight-forty till two-twenty and is divided into eight periods, seven of which are for each class given to study and recitations, while one is reserved for Calisthenics and lunch. It is to be noted, however, that the children in the first three grades are dismissed at from quarter past twelve to one, according to their age; and no

Preparatory pupils are kept after two. A warm luncheon is served daily in the basement at moderate cost. The exercise in Calisthenics is of value in relieving the tension of continued study and recitation and imparting grace and command of the bodily powers; permanent excuse is only granted, therefore, on the recommendation of a physician. After regular session there is opportunity for basket ball and for other more serious exercise in appropriate gymnastic costume. But to avoid the danger of over exertion, a physicians approval is required of all who take part in these more strenuous activities.

Owing to the large number of its pupils, the Institute is a strictly graded school. Admission is by examination, and promotion from class to class is determined both by daily work and by final examinations. But annual and semi-annual examinations are not required of those pupils whose recitations in class give satisfactory evidence of proficiency. A diploma is given to each senior who satisfactorily completes her course.

The dates of the regular examinations in the spring and the autumn are given in the calendar near the beginning of the catalogue. The requirements for admission to the several classes may be ascertained by consulting the Course of Study, pp. 38-44.

The text-books that are used in the school are on sale in the basement.

RATES OF TUITION.

The academic year is divided into two terms of eighteen weeks each; and the tuition rates for each of these terms are as follows:

Second Primary	$100.00
First Primary	100.00
Fifth Preparatory	125.00
Fourth Preparatory	125.00
Third Preparatory	125.00
Second Preparatory	125.00
First Preparatory	125.00
Fifth Academic	150.00
Fourth Academic	150.00
Third Academic	150.00
Second Academic	150.00
First Academic	150.00

These charges are at any time subject to change by vote of the Board of Directors.

No extras are charged for tuition given during regular school hours or as a part of the established school curriculum.

No pupil will be received for less than one term, and payment for each term must be made in advance. No rebate will be made except for prolonged illness or removal from the city.

Graduates of Mary Institute are admitted to any studies of the course, the charge for tuition being fifteen dollars a term for each study.

BOARD.

Mary Institute has no boarding department, and can not undertake to find accommodations for pupils whose homes are not in St. Louis, or to assume any responsibility for such pupils outside of the hours of the regular school session. But in case the Principal knows of trustworthy families who wish to take young ladies to board, he will give their addresses upon application.

For more particular information in respect to Mary Institute, reference may be made to the Principal or to any of the Faculty, or to the Chancellor's office, Washington University.

SCHOLARSHIPS

From the proceeds of a play presented in Founders' Hall by the pupils of the school the Mary Institute College Club awards a scholarship every year to that member of the college preparatory section who has obtained the highest average for the entire course of study. And upon the recommendation of the Principal, Washington University also awards a scholarship which gives free tuition at the University for four years. For this scholarship as well as for that given by the College Club, excellence in daily work and in examinations is alone considered.

The award made at the close of the preceding academic year was as follows:

College Club Scholarship ..... Merrydelle Gambrill

Washington University Scholarship ..... Lavinia Shields Durkan

The following scholarships, awarded by the colleges named as the result of open competition, have also been won by Mary Institute graduates:

Bryn Mawr Western States Scholarship for 1909 ..... Maud Wislizenus Holmes

Bryn Mawr Western States Scholarship for 1915 ..... Anna Reubenia Dubach
